Time: Tuesday January 17th 7pm to 9pm
Location: Radisson Blu Hotel, Stillorgan, Co Dublin
Guest Speaker: Miriam Ahern, Co-Founder of Tackle that Thing

Tackle That Thing

Tackle THAT THING! a new, unique format for learning and networking events. Using real-life examples of those unappealing (business/personal) chores (THAT THING!) that most of us are guilty of serially putting off, you'll learn how to develop effective personal productivity habits. You'll find out how to manage yourself better, how to control your time, how to get organised for action, how to get started, how to persevere and how to stay motivated until you finally get the right things done. You'll learn how to identify your personal procrastination profile and kick that particular negative habit, for good!

While you are exploring these useful personal effectiveness strategies, tactics and tips, you will also have great fun networking and getting to know the other participants. By working closely together and helping each-other, participants will have the opportunity to make new contacts and develop enduring, worthwhile relationships.
